Driber-Hassall Selected to Serve as an Examiner for 2009 New Mexico Quality Awards

Albuquerque, NM (April 1, 2008) Ellen Driber-Hassall, Senior Director of Webster University's Albuquerque campuses has been selected to serve as a member of the 2009 New Mexico Quality Award (NMQA) Board of Examiners. Serving as an Examiner is a volunteer position. The NMQA, modeled after the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award, recognizes New Mexico's business, government, education, health care and non-profit organizations for their commitment, progress, and achievement in Performance Excellence. There are three levels of the New Mexico Quality Awards: Piñon Recognition (commitment to Performance Excellence), Roadrunner Recognition (progress toward Performance Excellence), and Zia Award for Performance Excellence (best-in-class results).
