7. Other:

- Students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to contact the instructor or the Director of the Academic Resource Center, Dr. McLeese, at (314) 968-7495 as soon as possible to ensure that such accommodations can be implemented in a timely fashion.
- Class attendance is mandatory. Students who miss a class will be required to complete a make-up assignment for the missed class. This assignment will be due the week following the class that was missed. If this make-up assignment is not completed, a half letter grade reduction will be made in the student's final grade. Students who miss two or more classes are advised to withdraw from the course. A NC may be issued for the course in cases of multiple student absences. Attendance at the final class is required.
- Students who do not complete the requirements of the course must meet with the instructor prior to the end of the course to complete an Incomplete Course Form; otherwise, a NC will be issued. (Note: Only in the case of emergencies will an incomplete be granted to the student. Additionally, in order for an incomplete to be given, the student must have completed all of the course work due prior to the time of the occurrence of the emergency.)
- Early drafts of assignments will be accepted up until two weeks before the due date. Such drafts will be returned one week before the due date with the instructor's feedback. Upon request, an assignment for which a student has received below a B may be resubmitted. In that case, the final grade for the assignment will be the of the two grades. Assignments which are not handed in by the deadlines will be penalized by $\frac{1}{2}$ of a letter grade for each week they are late unless prior arrangements are made with the instructor.
- No form of academic dishonesty will be tolerated. According to the Webster University Student Handbook, academic dishonesty includes: Fabrication-Falsifying, inventing, or misstating any data, information, or citation in an academic assignment, field experience, academic credentials, job application or placement file, and Plagiarism-Using the works (i.e. words, images, other materials) of another person as one's own words without proper citation in any academic assignment. This included submission (in whole or in part) of any work purchased or downloaded for a web site or an Internet paper clearinghouse. Excessive use of direct quotations from primary sources will also not be accepted. All assignments which are starred  in this syllabus must be submitted by hard copy as well as electronic copy. The electronic copy will be set to the Turnitin database to determine if any part of the assignment has been copied or not properly cited. Students who plagiarize will earn "no credit" for the assignment. At the discretion of the instructor, the student will fail the course or be referred to the department chair and dean for disciplinary action.
- Final assignments may be mailed to the instructor at Webster University, 470 East Lockwood Avenue, St. Louis, MO 63119 or placed in the instructor's mailbox in the education office.

- This syllabus is subject to change at the discretion of the instructor.

8. Final projects: Final projects/assignments will be returned to students in the following manner:

- Final assignments will be placed in the instructor's mailbox in the education office for student pick-up approximately 2 weeks after the last week of class.

Kevin, age 10, has an educational diagnosis of learning disabilities in the area of reading. He will be entering 4th grade this fall. He has received special education services in a resource room setting for the past 3 years. The special education has used a remedial phonics approach to reading instruction. His most recent comprehensive evaluation provided the following information.

WISC-III

Composite Scores	IQ Scale Score	%ile Rank
Verbal IQ	92	34
Performance IQ	110	70
Full Scale IQ	101	53

Math Composite	91	27
Battery Composite	84	14

Kevin's parents are very upset that he still isn't reading on grade level. In fact, the gap between Kevin's performance and his peers seems to be widening. This year the IEP team has decided to implement a CWC model for language arts.

Skill targeted for instructional plan (academic): answering comprehension questions regarding the main idea and main events occurring in reading passages (both literary and content area) ranging in length from several paragraphs to 8-10 pages

Lionel, age 14, has just received an educational diagnosis of a behavior disorder. He was retained once in 4th grade and once in 6th grade. Background information in his file indicates that he has been referred for special education every year since first grade, but his mother never returned the paperwork. Lionel, his mother and six other siblings are currently living in a 2 bedroom apartment on a Section 8 housing voucher in a rough neighborhood. Social services have been involved with Lionel and his family several times, but there is difficulty with follow-through because the family moves frequently. His most recent comprehensive evaluation indicates that he is a "defiant adolescent who uses verbal and physical aggression to manipulate others." He has a reputation for being quick to anger. Classroom teachers report that Lionel has particular difficulty "holding it together" in class. When frustrated or overwhelmed with classroom tasks or other peers in the class, Lionel will often become verbally and physically defiant towards classroom staff and other students. Lionel is also frequently absent.

Because of his absenteeism, his academic achievement has suffered and he is achieving below grade level. The one class that he does not have difficulty in academically is mathematics. His only identifiable interests are sports and hanging out with a group of older boys in the neighborhood. Social services is concerned that this group of boys may be engaging in criminal activity.

Amber, age 7, has an educational diagnosis of autism. She will be entering first grade this fall having already been retained in kindergarten once. Her most recent comprehensive evaluation provided the following information.

WISC-III

Verbal IQ	110	75
Performance IQ	119	90

Childhood Autism Rating Scale

Total score of 32 which falls in the mild range of autism. Areas of greatest concern include: Relating to People, Emotional Response, and Adaptation to Change

Her teacher reports she has continuing problems with socialization. She does not make eye contact and usually turns away from the person talking to her. She is hyperlexic having decoding skills beyond her age level. Her major interest is in reading telephone directories. Academically she also has strong skills in math, but has a problem with math papers because her writing is illegible.

Skill targeted for instructional plan (social): using pragmatic conversational skills (making eye contact and turning to the person talking to her) to interact with peers

Keisha, age 9, has Down syndrome and an educational diagnosis of mental retardation. She will be entering third grade this fall. She has a number of health problems including a cardiac defect for which she has had three surgeries, and ongoing respiratory illnesses. She has a pleasant disposition and a great sense of humor. Keisha has all of the basic self-help skills expected of a child her age. Keisha's third grade teacher does, however, report one problem regarding Keisha's ability to manage her personal items (books, folders, pencils, and other items necessary for class). Keisha currently keeps all of these items in her desk but requires multiple reminders and "checks" from the teacher to make sure that she has the correct items ready for class. Keisha's difficulty with this task is becoming more disruptive to the class and her third grade teacher is worried that Keisha's lack of proficiency in this area is causing other students to view Keisha as "slow" or "stupid."

Her most recent comprehensive evaluation provided the following information.

Keisha is reading at a pre-primer level. She loves looking at picture books. She recognizes her name in print and can identify 20 words from the Dolch world list.

Skill targeted for instructional plan (functional): independently managing personal classroom items

Robert, age 16, has spastic cerebral palsy. He is the most severely affected in his legs, but he also has restricted movement on the right side of his upper body. His speech is dysarthric. Although he can be understood by those teachers and friends who are familiar with him and his speech patterns, he often has difficulty making himself understood to individuals with whom he is not as familiar. He uses both a walker and a wheelchair for mobility. He receives speech therapy three times per week and physical and occupational therapy once a week. He does not need any academic assistance. He prints rather than writes his papers and his mother types them for him. His GPA at the end of his freshman year was a 3.0 and he is considered a college-bound student. He will be starting his sophomore year this fall. His IEP must include a transition plan this year. His class schedule this year includes:

Geometry

Biology

Composition and Literature

World History

Physical Rehabilitation (therapies)

Word Processing

Music Appreciation

Skill targeted for instructional plan (communication): identifying when he is not being understood by another person and clarifying himself when this occurs
