1. Course Description: In this block students will explore a variety of theories, concepts, principles, and models utilized when implementing partnerships among and between home, community and school. Through research/principals/dispositions, professional discourse, group simulation, self analysis, application of guest speakers and site visits students will identify and analyze the uses and applications of community resources in supporting families and children. Students will learn, simulate and evaluate techniques for working with stakeholders and examine collaboration concepts, principles, models and strategies for interagency efforts. Emphasis will be placed on models/Skills in such areas as: communication, problem solving, conflict resolution, decision-making, group facilitation, team building. Focus will also be placed on best practices for development of community information, networking, support systems, public relations and media. The implementation of vision, school climate, program evaluation, the change process will be explored. Identification, writing, implementation and evaluation will also be explored in relation to their impact on collaborative processes.

Supplemental Readings: (List and indicate how these are to be used.)

A packet containing material to support weekly sessions will be distributed to each student on the class. An additional assortment of handouts for review will also be distributed. A fee (approximately $10) will be charged for these material materials. . See the attached bibliography for a list of additional readings.

2. EVALUATION: (basis of evaluation with explanation regarding the nature of the assignment and the percentage of the grade assigned to each item below)

The knowledge, disposition and performance you demonstrate in reference to the specific course (ISLLC indicators) that support each of the program standards in the context of this collaborative learning will be viewed through a variety of activities and projects as outlined in the “Dominant Program Model” toward the end of this syllabus. You will design projects in five key areas. Each project will outline dispositions related to that area. Each project will include guiding principles, an overall framework and implementation plan for that area. A reflective component and self analysis will also be complete project. Finally, each project will include the portfolio activities each indicator associated with the project. Thus, each project will contain:

- Belief/disposition/guiding principles
- Conceptual framework
- Implementation plan
- Reflective self/program analysis

- Portfolio activities

See criteria in the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric” toward the end of this syllabus for further information on expectations for each project area and each component area.

The class will be subdivided into small cluster groups. These groups will provide dialogue, discussion, and reflection on each project area. Participants will be able to share their work on each project with each other. Each project will address each of the course outcomes (ISLLC indicators) as outlined in the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric” at the end of the syllabus. The “MPEA Framework for Principal Portfolio Review: Advanced Certification” indicators mentioned in the portfolio activity section should also be addressed in each project. An expectation/rubric for each activity is outlined below. (5 project areas, 50 points each)

Assessments Links to Course Outcomes Percentage of Grade Overall Project Activities

- Belief/disposition/guiding principles
- Conceptual framework
- Implementation plan
- Reflective self/program analysis
- Portfolio activities

Each project must address associated course outcomes (ISLLC indicators) as outlined in the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric,” at the end of the syllabus. The “MPEA Framework for Principal Portfolio Review: Advanced Certification,” indicators mentioned in the portfolio activity section of the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric” should also be addressed in each project. Additional information on components of this activity is:

below. 100% Disposition/ethics/principals Activities

Disposition/Belief activities will be incorporated into each of the project areas and will also stand alone. Activities would include platforms, statements of guiding principals/beliefs, essays, reflections/self-analysis narratives. Activity areas and selected tools to support reflection and self analysis are listed in the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric,” at the end of the syllabus.

Reflection activities:

Skill development activities will also be completed during this course. These activities will include group simulation and self analysis reflection narratives. Professional development plans will be completed as appropriate. Activity areas, expectations and selected tools to support reflection and self analysis are listed in the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric,” at the end of the syllabus. (14 topic areas, all incorporated into projects)

Portfolio activities

Portfolio activities specific to the “MPEA Framework for Principal Portfolio Review: Advanced Certification” indicators (placed, with full narrative, at the end of the syllabus), will be a component of each project. Students will present a portfolio that contains documents and written commentary that, taken together, demonstrates knowledge, dispositions and performance in each indicator area. (19 indicator areas incorporated into the projects)

6. GRADING SCALE:

Students will complete five projects that, taken together, clearly demonstrates knowledge, analysis and synthesis of each course outcome at the progressing to proficient level or above (See criteria in the “Dominant Program Outcome Rubric,” toward the end of this syllabus for further information) in order to pass the course. Each project is worth 50 points, for a total of 250 points for the class.

- A = 250 points (proficient or above across course outcomes)
- A- = 235 points (proficient in most course outcomes progressing in a f
- B+ = 220 points (proficient in many course outcomes progressing in so
- B = 200 points (progressing in most course outcomes proficient is son

3. ACADEMIC HONESTY POLICY:

Students at Webster University are expected to practice academic honesty.

Avoiding Plagiarism

Plagiarism is intentionally claiming that another person's work is his/her own or implying that ar work is his/her own (through inadequate or inaccurate citations of reference material.)

Students:

- Should not copy whole portions of text from another source as a major component of papers or projects.
- Should identify the title, author, page number/webpage address, and publication date of works when directly quoting small portions of texts, articles, interviews, or websites.
- Should appropriately identify the source of information when paraphrasing (restating) ideas from texts, interviews, articles, or websites.
- Should follow the guidelines of the American Psychological Association Style Guide when referencing all research sources.

Consequences of Academic Dishonesty:

Students who plagiarize will earn "no credit" for the assignment. Students may receive a ; credit for the course, or dismissal according to university policy.

For further information about the consequences of academic dishonesty please consult the Webst Student Handbook.

4. ACCESSIBILITY/ACCOMODATIONS POLICY:

If you have a disability that may have some impact on your work in this class and you may require accommodations contact the Director of the Academic Resource Center, McLeese, at (314) 968-7495.

WEBSTER UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Vision: “. . . We all must work to make this world worthy of its children.” (Casals, 1970)

Mission: The School of Education at Webster University provides its students with the know experiences, and practical tools that help them guide both themselves and others toward lifelong learning. The School of Education is a community of educator-scholars who apply critical reflection and creative energies to enhance learning in schools and other educational settings. The faculty strives to support this community by modeling effective teaching practices based on sound theory and research. Personalized approaches create a challenging, yet supportive environment that permits the risk-taking necessary for learning and growth. The School of Education encourages faculty and students to work actively toward this end, keeping in mind that action must be rooted in visionary, yet realistic, thinking. This thought and action process underscores the development of inner-directed self-understanding, an outer-directed global perspective, and an appreciation of human diversity that arises from both.

Theme: Developing a world of learners through knowledge, leadership, and life-long learning.

The universal mandala (a circle with intersecting vertical and horizontal lines) graphically represents the conceptual framework of the School of Education. The outer circle provides the framework “world of learners” in cultural settings. The two axes represent the theme components of knowledge, leadership, and life-long learning. These lines are broken to emphasize the fluid relationship of the goals and integrated concepts. Each quadrant represents one of the school's four goals for education candidates: to develop knowledgeable learners, informed instructors, reflective collaborators, and responsive educators.

Goals

1. Education candidates will demonstrate knowledge of the subject matter, knowledge of the learner, and knowledge of pedagogy based on inquiry and scholarship.

The knowledgeable learner:

- 1.1 knows content that supports conceptual understanding;
- 1.2 applies tools of inquiry to construct meaningful learning experiences;
- 1.3 identifies developmental factors in student learning; and
- 1.4 Understands theoretical principles of effective instruction to plan learning experiences.

2. Education candidates will incorporate multiple assessment and instructional strategies to support effective educational practices based on research and theory.

The informed instructor:

- 2.1 designs curriculum based on students' prior knowledge, learning styles, strengths, and needs;
 - 2.2 understands and uses a range of instructional strategies;
 - 2.3 uses a variety of communication modes, media, and technology to support student learning; and
 - 2.4 Employs a variety of formal and informal assessments to monitor learning and modify instruction.
3. Education candidates will reflect on the roles educators take as leaders of change through collaboration with colleagues, students, and families in schools and communities.

The reflective collaborator:

- 3.1 values and integrates reflection to grow as a professional;
 - 3.2 promotes communication and collaboration with colleagues, families, and community leaders;
 - 3.3 seeks relationships with families and students to support student learning; and
 - 3.4 Initiates change that benefits students and their families.
4. Education candidates will demonstrate respect for diversity through responsive teaching and learning that values individual differences.

The responsive educator:

- 4.1 understands and responds appropriately to issues of diversity
- 4.2 acknowledges social and cultural contexts to create effective teaching and learning environments;
- 4.3 adapts instruction to the learner's knowledge, ability, and background experience; and
- 4.4 Identifies resources for specialized services when needed.

Dispositions:

NCATE defines dispositions as "the values, commitments and professional ethics that influence behaviors toward students, families, colleagues, and communities and affect student learning, motivation, and development as well as the educator's own professional growth." (Professional Standards, p. 53) There is significant value in focusing attention on qualities that make an effective teacher.

1. Understands and Respects Self
 - 1.1 Understands and respects that s (he) may be different from others
 - 1.2 Embraces an openness to change (adaptability, flexibility)
 - 1.3 Exhibits curiosity
 - 1.4 Engages in reflection
2. Understands and Respects Others
 - 2.1 Understands, respects, and responds appropriately to diversity in a variety of settings
 - 2.2 Exhibits empathy
 - 2.3 Commits to fairness and honesty
 - 2.4 Listens respectfully to other points of view

3. Understands and Respects Professional Communities
 - 3.1 Commits to professional behavior in university and school cultures
 - 3.2 Practices informed decision-making in university and school cultures
 - 3.3 Communicates and collaborates in university and school cultures
 - 3.4 Accepts academic rigor (willingness to work/ high expectations)
 - 3.5 Affects change with courage and confidence

Rubric to address outcomes

Overall Project Activities:

The knowledge, disposition and performance you demonstrate in reference to the specific course (ISLLC indicators) that support each of the program standards in the context of this collaborative will be viewed through a variety of activities and projects outlined below. You will design project areas. Each project will outline your beliefs/dispositions related to that area. Each project will include principles, an overall framework and implementation plan for that area. A reflective component will also be completed for each project. Finally, each project will include the portfolio activities associated with the project topic. Thus, each project will contain:

- Belief/disposition/guiding principles
- Conceptual framework
- Implementation plan
- Reflective self/program analysis
- Portfolio activities

The class will be subdivided into small cluster groups. These groups will provide dialogue, discussion project area. Participants will be able to share their work on each project with each other. Each project address associated course outcomes (ISLLC indicators) as outlined in the “Dominant Program Outcomes at the end of the syllabus. The “MPEA Framework for Principal Portfolio Review: Advanced Course Outcomes indicators mentioned in the portfolio activity section should also be addressed in each project. An expectation/rubric for each activity is outlined below. (5 project areas, 50 points each)

Project expectations in the context of the communication and collaboration topics:

Design your building/program communication and collaboration framework between and among peers, staff and community members (internal and external communication). How do/will you collaborate with all stakeholders that influence or come in contact with you building/program? This plan will include the continuum of communication, involvement and partnership. This plan will have enough detail that a new administrator walking into the classroom/program could understand and implement it. This plan will include who, what, where, when and how would be included. This would also include actual forms, sample newsletter, packets, handbooks, manuals and draft surveys/questionnaires. Another aspect of the communication component of this activity will include a framework for family support. This component will focus on how that the staff can implement to connect families to support services. The third component of this activity will be on clarification of Disposition/ethics/principles that support relationship/collaboration/communication and among home, community and school. Finally self reflections in the areas specific to communication and collaboration would be included within these projects. Aspects should include but are not limited to:

Communication plan for students, peers, staff, family and community roles:

What plans will you have in place for communication with students?

What plans will you have for communication before, during and after the school year end?
This should include multiple strategies at each stage that will meet the multiple projects of individual families.

This should address whole building/program, small group/cluster and individual students and individual students, anticipated individual situations.

What plans will you have for communication with staff members?

This would include the whole facility and subgroups

This would include each role within the school (general education, ancillary, special remedial, ESL, Gifted, Related service, Paraprofessional, support, administrative)

What plans will you have for communication with the community members?

This would address the community at large

This would include sub groups in the community

This would include communication with community members involved in the activity

Collaboration plan that supports individual students, classroom, grade level/program and building

What plans will you have in place to involve family in your building/program?

This would include multiple plans/activities.

What plans will you have in place to involve community in your building program?

This would include several plans/activities.

What plans will you have in place for collaboration among and between other staff/community members?

What would the collaborative framework look like in your building/program?

This would include a variety of aspects within the collaborative continuum of options include collaboration between individual staff members and groups (grade level, team clusters, individual student team clusters, faculty, committees). This would also include preventative planning/development, problem solving and conflict resolution.

How will you facilitate building family support networks within your school/program?

This will include key resources families can be referred to within the building/district

This will include a strategy for having additional resources available (community resources contact guide, listing of key web sites, high probability of need resource list/information available).

Climate Plan (belief, principals, framework, plan and self-analysis/reflection)

What climate would you create in your building/school?

What would be the framework for creating, implementing, evaluating and refining Climate in my building/program?

What would be my plan for implementing this framework?

How do I foster/facilitate/develop a collaborative/caring community ((belonging/trust/relationship partnership) climate in my building/program?

How do I assess the climate in my building/program? Climate (Design reflection p 74 learning environment, Diversity p104, Friendliness Audit 2.1.6a p 87, Student and Violence prevention reflection p 139, can do school reflect p315)

Strategic Plan: Vision/Mission/Guiding Principles/Goals/Action Plans

(Design 5 reflection shared expectations p 277, reflection: planning process p 309 reflection: criteria for vision p 295, reflection: can do school reflect 315

What is your vision/mission across different role areas? What is a goal in each of these role actions will you take in this goal area? What are your overall guiding principles?

How will you establish a vision in your school/program?

How will you move the vision to action through collaborative long range planning?

What is the group vision, mission, guiding principles, goals, action plans?

Program Evaluation/Change Plan

Design a program evaluation and follow framework for your school/program
Design a program evaluation and follow-up process for one aspect of your building/program
Design a framework for facilitating change in your school/program
What processes/strategies would you use to initiate change resulting from program evaluation, vision development, new initiatives and externally required directives?

Disposition/ethics/principals:

Disposition/Belief activities will be incorporated into each of the project areas and will alone. These activities would include platforms, statements of guiding principals/beliefs, reflections/self analysis narratives. Activity areas and selected tools to support reflection and self analysis are listed

Below. (8 activity areas, all incorporated into the projects)

What are the trust building traits/dispositions you do/will implement in relationship with others?
What are my guiding principles for relationship/collaboration/communication?
What climate would you create in your building/school?
Is my program/building family centered? (Design p 21 reflection)
1.1.1 parent survey: partnership, productive involvement reflect 331 volunteer evaluation supporting teaching/learning families reflection 379)
What is your degree of conviction toward excellence? (Appendix A Skilful leader)
What would be the accountability framework in your school/program? (essay)
What is your vision for the school/program you lead?
What are my beliefs about change, program evaluation?

Reflection activities:

Skill development activities will also be completed during this course. These activities include individual and group simulation and self analysis reflection narratives. Professional development plans will be developed as appropriate. Activity areas, expectations and selected tools for reflection and self analysis are listed below. (14 topic areas, all incorporated into the project)

Self analysis of:

Communication skills: (Design reflection oral communication 145 &155, Written communication. P 161, parent teacher conference p 177 &183)
Relationship skills: (Design reflection p 214)
Trust (Design 2.2.6 p 109 and packet)
Collaboration skills: (Design team work assessment p372, Teacher leadership rubric: collaboration)
Facilitation skills: Group & Individual (Adaptive schools work book: Facilitative Behaviors in a task-oriented group .135, norms of collaborative leadership rubric: Dialogue)
Problem solving skills (Design 1.2.20 p 69)
Conflict resolution skills: (packet)
Style/profile areas: (packet)
Advocacy skills: (continuum, conviction)

Stage of professional development: (teacher leadership rubric: adult development)

Skills in the cultivation of climate in your building/program:

Skills in the development/implementation/evaluation of vision

Skills in program evaluation/change process:(Teacher leadership rubric: Change)

Decisions making skills: (Design 1.2.20 p 69)

Skills in the development/implementation/evaluation of vision

Leadership themes: (packet)

The following questions will be addressed for each skill/topic area:

What are my strengths?

What areas are not adequate and need refinement?

What areas are adequate or better, yet, I would like to enhance?

What is my action plan for one areas of growth?

Course outcome activity:

Pick one thing that you have learned in this class and used in your classroom/program/building. this knowledge/skill has impacted on student learning. Provide baseline and post data to support impact. Consider throughout this session and complete before the end of the session.

Portfolio activities

Portfolio activities specific to the “MPEA Framework for Principal Portfolio Review: Advanced indicators mentioned below (and placed, with full narrative, at the end of the syllabus) component of each class. Students will present a portfolio that contains documents and written that, taken together, clearly demonstrates knowledge, dispositions and performance in each of the below, at the progressing to proficient level or above.
