Audition Policies, Requirements, and Process

- I. The Community Music School of Webster University orchestras and ensembles support and enhance students' individual lessons and school music programs. Applicants must participate in their school orchestra/band program on the same instrument on which they're auditioning for CMS programs. This policy is waived only when no orchestra or band program exists.
- II. To ensure that a student's performance and audition experience are positive and educational, CMS recommends that students consult with their individual lesson teacher prior to auditioning.
- III. Acceptance into a CMS performance program requires a full year commitment for all events from September through May. This includes all rehearsals, dress rehearsals, and performances listed in this booklet for the applicable ensemble/orchestra program. Frequent absences and/or lack of preparation will result in reseating and/or dismissal from orchestra/ensemble. All students sign a contract upon acceptance confirming their commitment to participation in all required program events. Unexcused absences may lead to dismissal from the program without refund.
- IV. Students and parents agree to accept faculty and administrative decisions regarding auditions, seating, financial aid, scholarships, evaluations, awards, and applications of policies made under the published policies and procedures of the School.
 - A. The CMS Director and Dean of the Leigh Gerding College of Fine Arts are, respectively, the ultimate authority regarding decisions made under the published policies and procedures of the school, unless the provisions of the specific policy of Webster University delegates authority elsewhere.
 - B. An appeal for a decision regarding instruction should be directed to the Office of the Director of the Community Music School of Webster University. The appeal will be reviewed by the Director and the Dean of the Leigh Gerding College of Fine Arts.

Sitting in the first few seats is an honor and a responsibility.

- ❖ A principal player is expected to be very well prepared for and to attend all rehearsals and concerts, to be ready to play any solos, and to be able to act as a leader in the section. Failure to meet these responsibilities may result in re-seating at the discretion of the conductor.
- ❖ An assistant principal player is expected to have the same qualifications as a principal player, but only plays solos or leads the section if the principal player is absent.
- ❖ A third chair player needs to be very well prepared and have excellent attendance. He or she moves up to the first stand if the principal or assistant principal are absent. It is unlikely that he or she will play solos.

An Installment Payment Plan is described in the Student Handbook mailed upon acceptance. Limited Tuition Assistance is available. Endangered Instrument Awards are available upon request for students new to the orchestra/ensemble program who wish to audition on viola, double bass, bassoon, horn, trombone or tuba. Call (314) 968-5939 for more information.

Membership in the Community Music School orchestras and ensembles is by audition for both returning and new students. Auditions are by appointment only.

Read all information carefully before completing BOTH sides of the application and return the application to the Community Music School of Webster University by the specified deadline.

I. ORCHESTRA AUDITION REQUIREMENTS

Please refer to PREP, Jazz Ensemble, and Percussion Ensemble program descriptions for specific audition requirements.

1. Solo: An unaccompanied solo of the student's choice is required. The solo should be recital-ready and represent the student's technical and musical ability. The solo does not need to be memorized.
2. Excerpts (portions of a musical score) are also part of the audition. Excerpts will be sent to students ahead of the auditions (please see #5 under "II. Audition Process" below). They will not be available before those dates.
3. Scales: For scale requirements, see the descriptions of specific orchestras/ensembles. You will not know which scale will be requested, so be sure to prepare all scales listed.

II. AUDITION PROCESS

1. Review the audition requirements. Consider the commitment carefully: Can you commit to a full year? Are there conflicts with rehearsal or concert dates or times?
2. Complete the appropriate audition application(s).* Forms without both parent/guardian and student signatures will not be accepted.
3. Mail or fax (both sides) of the application by the deadline. DO NOT SEND MONEY WITH YOUR APPLICATION. Mailed applications must be postmarked on or before the deadline.
4. You will receive confirmation that your application was received, along with your audition day, time, and location.
5. Excerpts will be mailed August 1 for YPSO and YPCO and August 22 for SO and SE.
6. All auditions are held in the CMS Center at 535 Garden Avenue in Webster Groves. On the day of your audition, allow time to park, find the audition room, and to warm up. You are assigned a warm-up room upon your arrival.
7. Placement in the ensembles is based on the audition performance, with consideration given to attendance record. Audition comments or ratings are confidential and will not be released. The decisions of the judges will be final.
8. Results will be mailed to auditionees the week following the final auditions for the respective ensembles. No results will be given over the phone. Seating charts for the YPSO, YPCO, and SO will be posted on the CMS website after September 6.

* Students may audition for more than one ensemble. If accepted into either the Young People's Concert Orchestra or Young People's Symphonic Orchestra, a student's application for String Ensemble or String Orchestra will be disregarded.

The Community Music School reserves the right to modify or cancel any orchestra, ensemble, or program due to insufficient enrollment or instrumentation or due to extenuating circumstances.

PREPARATORY PROGRAM (PREP)

Vera Parkin, artistic coordinator

The Community Music School of Webster University's Preparatory Program (PREP) is designed to augment the individual music study of exceptionally talented string, woodwind, brass, and piano students who anticipate pursuing a career in music. Utilizing the vast artistic resources of the Community Music School of Webster University, Webster University, the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra, and other area music professionals, the Preparatory Program offers high caliber instruction, performance opportunities, and artistic mentoring in one comprehensive curriculum. The curriculum is centered on chamber music and also includes theory, ear training, music history and literature, performance classes, and special events such as recitals, master classes and guest lectures. The Preparatory Program seeks to offer the resources and opportunities necessary to support tomorrow's professional musicians.

WHO SHOULD APPLY: PREP applicants should be

- Exceptional string, wind, and piano students who are well into the concerto level repertoire. Brass students may be admitted, provided there is suitable repertoire for instrumentation and adequate enrollment.
- In grades 9-12. Younger students may be considered, based on teacher recommendation.
- Studying privately on the instrument on which they'll audition
- Highly motivated and who anticipate pursuing music study at the collegiate or conservatory level

Enrollment is limited to 35 students.

FEES: $775 for the two-semester program (May be paid in installments. See Page 2.)

A non-refundable registration fee of $25 is assessed once per academic year per student upon enrollment.

APPLICATION: Application deadline (postmarked by): August 29, 2011.

AUDITION REQUIREMENTS:

Auditions will be held by appointment only on Saturday, September 10, 2011 from 1-6 pm and Monday, September 12, 2011 from 6:30-9 pm. Each student will have 10 minutes to audition. Although jurors may hear only a portion of the repertoire, students should prepare all required material specified below:

- Sight-reading excerpts will be selected by the jurors for the audition.
- A written theory test will be administered (for class placement purposes only). Please allow 30 minutes following your audition time slot to complete the theory exam.
- Two (2) contrasting pieces or movements to best demonstrate technical and musical ability. Memorization is suggested but not required. Accompanists are not required; students may elect to bring their own accompanists.
- All major and melodic minor scales.
 - Piano: 4 octaves plus harmonic minor scales.
 - Strings: 3 octaves/4 notes per bow.
 - Woodwinds & Brass: minimum 2 octaves plus chromatic scales.

SUGGESTED REPERTOIRE: See Suggested Repertoire, page 5

YOUNG PEOPLE'S SYMPHONIC ORCHESTRA (YPSO)

Richard Holmes, conductor

Violin, Viola, Cello, Bass, Piccolo, Flute, Oboe, English Horn, Clarinet, Bass Clarinet, Bassoon, Horn, Trumpet, Trombone, Tuba, Percussion

This full orchestra is the most advanced of the School's ensembles. The orchestral literature is in its original form and is more challenging than the Young People's Concert Orchestra's repertoire. Established over 25 years ago, this orchestra focuses attention on the refinement of ensemble skills, intonation, sight-reading, and orchestral discipline, while increasing performance standards. (Past repertoire includes Four Dance Episodes from Rodeo, Copland; and Symphony No. 2 "Little Russian," Tchaikovsky.) All members of YPSO are invited to audition for the Concerto Competition.

AGES: Students through high school

PERCUSSION ENSEMBLES (PE)

Erin Elstner, conductor

All Percussion Instruments

These ensembles provide opportunities for students to play and perform percussion ensemble literature specifically chosen for their musical experience. Designed to supplement individual and/or class percussion instruction, the ensembles help students develop strong fundamental skills in all areas of percussion and improve ensemble performance skills. Students have the opportunity to perform in a wide variety of ensemble settings including large and small mallet keyboard ensembles, ethnic/world percussion and traditional "mixed percussion" ensembles. Literature includes original works as well as transcriptions for percussion from both "classic" and "contemporary" composers.

AGES: Students in grades 7 – 12

FEE: $410 for the two semester program (May be paid in installments. See Page 2.)

A non-refundable registration fee of $25 is assessed once per academic year per student upon enrollment.

JAZZ LAB ENSEMBLE (JLE)

Robert Waggoner, conductor

Brass, Woodwind and String instruments plus a rhythm section of Guitar, Vibraphone, Piano, Drum Set, Latin Percussion, and Bass (electric or acoustic)

All melodic instruments are welcome to participate in the jazz lab ensemble, which will perform a variety of jazz styles from the 1930s to the present. The ensemble will develop students' skills in improvisation, ensemble interaction, and personal musicianship. A second jazz ensemble may be added if auditions and enrollment warrant. Prior experience in jazz is helpful but not mandatory.

AGES: Students in grades 8 – 12

FEES: $215 per semester (May be paid in installments. See Page 2.)

A non-refundable registration fee of $25 is assessed once per academic year per student upon enrollment.

APPLICATION: Application deadline is August 19, 2011 (Semester 1) and January 6, 2012 (Semester 2).

AUDITIONS: Tuesday, August 23, 2011, 4 – 7 pm and Tuesday, January 10, 2012, 3:45-4:15 pm

AUDITION REQUIREMENTS:

- Students should play two pieces, a 12 bar blues and a standard from the jazz repertoire, or selections from their school jazz band materials.
- The audition pieces should display technique, rhythmic agility, phrasing, and melodic sensitivity.
- Suggested jazz works for the audition can be located in the jazz play-along books published by Hal Leonard, Aebersold and Alfred.
- Drum auditions include playing in the following styles: medium and fast swing, ballad, bossa nova, samba, jazz waltz, shuffle, and ½ time funk.
- Piano, bass, guitar and vibraphone auditions include playing written parts and reading chord symbols.
- Students will take a simple ear training/improvisation placement test.
 - We will have a CD player for you to use at the audition.

WEEKLY REHEARSALS:

Tips for a Successful Audition

Preparation

1. Read the requirements carefully. Submit the application on or before the deadline, and know the date, time and location of the audition.
2. Be sure you understand the audition requirements for your ensemble(s).
 - Know your scales.
 - Practice sight-reading.
3. Choose suitable repertoire.
 - Choose pieces that demonstrate both your musical and technical abilities. Generally, you must demonstrate sufficient technical ability, good sound, and musicianship to be under consideration. Do not choose pieces that are beyond your ability to play well.
 - If you have more than one piece, choose pieces that are from different musical periods and of contrasting style.
4. Practice.
 - Be well prepared. Few people audition at 100% of their ability.
 - Have reeds, strings, and instruments adjusted and ready for the audition day. Bring extra reeds and strings, just in case.
 - Beginnings and endings are very important.
5. Rest.
 - It is essential to be well rested; do not stay up late the night before an audition. This allows you to be more alert and responsive during the audition.
 - Do not over practice the day before and the day of an audition.

The Audition

1. Dress nicely. Your appearance should give the impression that you are respectful of the judges and the situation.
2. Plan your travel to the audition site. Allow time for traffic and parking. Arrive early so you can warm up (a warm-up room is provided).
3. Don't allow hunger to impede your audition.
4. Appear confident and happy.
5. Keep focused on the present. Do not dwell on previous mistakes, or on what is coming.
6. Very rarely will you play all the material you have prepared.
7. Keep a consistent tempo where appropriate. For example, do not play an easy scale faster than a difficult one.
8. Be considerate of others:
 - The judges – by being on time
 - The staff – by being polite and courteous. Thank people who are helpful. Find out how and when the results will be made public.
 - Other auditioning students – by being polite and respectful. Showing off or comparing yourself to others is not helpful for performing your best.

Judging

Judging is objective and subjective. Missed notes, inaccurate rhythms, ignored directions, poor intonation, etc. can be objectively judged. Sound, style, musicianship, and general impression are subjective. No two people hear the same thing. All judges' deliberations are confidential and final.

Partnerships

The Community Music School of Webster University is fortunate to benefit from its on-going close relationship with the St. Louis Symphony. This artistic partnership makes it possible for Community Music School students to learn from Symphony musicians and conductors, who present master classes, conduct sectionals, and provide artistic mentoring for the PREP Program. The Community Music School and the Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra are continuing to explore new avenues to expand their educational and musical interaction.

As a part of Webster University's Leigh Gerding College of Fine Arts, the Community Music School works closely with the Department of Music (DoM), sharing faculty, equipment, and space resources. Webster University DoM faculty provide coaching, present master classes, adjudicate scholarship auditions, conduct ensembles, assist with the Young Composers Competition, and participate in program development. The natural partnership between Webster University's Department of Music and the Community Music School of Webster University continues to strengthen and broaden with increasing opportunities for collaboration.

The Preparatory Program is an elite program, designed for serious, motivated students. The audition must confirm that a student is at a suitably advanced level to participate. Because students will be placed in chamber groups, program participants must be well matched in areas of musicality, musicianship, technical proficiency, and experience. Selections for the Preparatory Program are made only if suitable repertoire can be found for available instrumentation.

Enrollment is limited.
