

INSTITUTE FOR EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING AND LEARNING

MISSION

The mission of the Institute for Teaching and Learning (ITL) is to promote Webster University's teaching mission and enhance student learning. The ITL has two main components, the Assessment Center and the Faculty Development Center.

The Office of Assessment coordinates the full implementation of the University's academic assessment plans. Such activities will include evaluating existing programs and curriculum and coordinating student evaluations.

The Faculty Development Center supports University faculty in developing pedagogical approaches and models that achieve curricular objectives and meet diverse student learning styles by providing a range of initiatives, services, and resources. The Center facilitates such activities as faculty fellowships, research and grants implementation, instructional design, online and web-enhanced course development, instructional media production, and workshops and training.