

Introduction

Residential living is an integral part of the educational process at Webster University. Although it is important to provide a safe and comfortable place for students to sleep and study, the development of mutual respect in our residential community is equally as important. Our mission is below:

In support of the mission of Webster University and the Department of Student Affairs, the offices of Housing & Residential Life and the Webster Village Apartments are dedicated to our residents.

We strive to create a community, which provides a student-centered learning environment that supports our expectation of academic achievement and personal development. Through compassionate and collaborative relationships, we are guided by honesty, trust, and respect to fulfill our commitment.

Together, we strive for excellence by providing:

- residential facilities that provide flexibility, current technology and amenities to foster the recruitment and retention of students;
- supportive partnerships with faculty to promote critical thinking, values development, appreciation for diverse and international perspectives, and life-long learning;
- coherent and practical administrative policies and procedures that support personal responsibility; and
- a thoroughly trained, team-focused and diverse staff that makes intentional connections with residents and serves as role models for the University community.

Responsibility to the Community

Everyone at Webster University is an important member of our campus community. Resident students have an opportunity to participate daily in a very unique community, which can contribute to the success of all students within it. Our residential community includes East Hall, West Hall, and the Webster Village Apartments.

Along with the freedom of being a college student comes responsibility. This responsibility includes showing individual concern for others, maintaining the care and condition of the facilities, and participating in the programs and activities that occur. When residents demonstrate a lack of care or concern for the rights of others, the University, through the judicial process, takes intervening action. Most importantly, being a responsible member of Webster's residential community means being accountable for all we do individually. All residents need an understanding of the policies and regulations of the University and the Office of Housing and Residential Life, which are outlined in this publication, the Housing Contract and Apartment Lease, and in the Student Handbook.

For any room or apartment repairs or maintenance needs, residents can submit work orders at the Residential Life Office or the WVA Office. Facilities Services staff will complete work in a timely manner or inform the office if there is a delay. Under normal circumstances, facilities staff will not begin working in student rooms before 10:00am. They may enter your room while you are there or while you are away.

Security problems, power failure, fire, loss of heat (if the outside temperature is below 40 degrees F) or loss of A/C (when temperature is greater than 90 degrees F), and rising water are considered emergencies for which you should contact the office, the RA On Call, or Public Safety immediately. Water leaks and equipment malfunctions should be reported promptly to insure minimum inconvenience and property damage.

Vacuum Cleaners, Dollies, etc.

Residence Hall students may check-out vacuum cleaners, two-wheelers (dollies), brooms and other items from the Office of Housing and Residential Life. If you wish to use any of these you may come to the Housing and Residential Life office during regular hours and check them out. You will be required to present your student ID. Your card will be returned to you when you have returned the item(s) you have checked out.

The WVA offers vacuum cleaners for checkout. A vacuum is available for your use from your RA; contact your RA in his/her apartment to find out if it is available. Please contact the WVA office immediately for special instructions and assistance in handling stains or damaged areas.

Residents in East and West Hall will find vending machines dispensing snacks and beverages as well as a change machine on the ground floors of those respective buildings. Residential Housing Association

The Residential Housing Association (RHA) is a key student organization on campus, and an integral part of the Office of Housing and Residential Life. RHA offers excellent leadership opportunities for all resident students, providing a wide range of residential programming, advising the Office of Housing and Residential Life on policy and other areas of customer service, working to improve the living environment at Webster University, and networking with other colleges and universities across the nation.

RHA is comprised of two bodies: An Executive Board and a Representative body. The Executive Board includes the positions of President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer, and National Communications Coordinator (NCC). The Rep. Body is made up of Floor/Area Representatives elected from the residence halls and the Webster Village Apartments. These are voting members of RHA, but meetings are open to all residents. Representatives serve as liaisons for their respective area. All representative positions are elected each fall, so it's easy to get involved right away.

All residents are welcome! Contact Kristin Price, RHA President, in the RHA office in West Hall at x4RHA (4742), or by email at websterrha@hotmail.com.
