

College of Humanities and Social Sciences grad

Departments

- History, Politics, International Relations and Religious Studies, David Pennington, chair
- Law, Crime and Social Justice, Robin Jefferson Higgins, chair

Institutes

- Institute for Human Rights and Humanitarian Studies, Lindsey Kingston, director

Danielle MacCartney, interim dean

College of Humanities and Social Sciences website (external to catalog)

Please refer to the Accreditations and Licensures section of this catalog for specialized accreditations that may apply to programs in the College of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Mission Statement

The College of Humanities and Social Sciences will embrace the shared values of our disciplines: free inquiry and debate; equity and justice; academic and intellectual rigor and integrity; intense curiosity and the pursuit of truth. We will collaborate actively: among colleges, among departments, and with the students and the communities we serve. We will teach and learn in a spirit and practice that is broad-minded, radically inclusive, utterly respectful, and grounded in critical and humane thought. We will honor knowledge for its own sake and for its ability to make change in the world. We will assert our values, our methods, our standards, and our ideas. We believe that the Humanities and Social Sciences are the foundation of good citizenship and good stewardship, locally, nationally, and globally.

Graduate Degrees

- Criminal Justice (MS)
Dual Degree Option:
MA in National Security Studies/MS in Criminal Justice
- International Relations (MA)
Dual Degree Option:
MBA/MA in International Relations
- Legal Studies (MA)
- National Security Studies (MA)
Dual Degree Options:
MA in National Security Studies/MS in Criminal Justice
MA in National Security Studies/MS in Cybersecurity Operations

Graduate Certificates

- Administration of Justice
- International Development
- International and Nongovernmental Organizations
- International and Regional Security
- Paralegal Studies