is established in conjunction with the cooperating teacher. To enroll in a practicum, students must make formal application to the Office of Apprentice Teaching and Field Experience. Practicum applications for spring placements are due by September 15 in Tk20. Practicum applications for fall are due by February 15 in Tk20. Five of nine assignments in Passport 2 must be completed before the start of practicum.

Global MA in International Relations (GMA)

Admission Requirements should read:

- A completed Graduate Application for Admission, which can be completed and submitted online at <http://webster.edu/> apply.
Important Note: When asked to choose a program on the online application, applicants should select "St. Louis campuses" > "St Louis Home campus" > "Graduate", and then choose "Global International Relations." Applicants do not have to submit another application specific to the GMAIR program.
- A $50 non-refundable application fee, which can be submitted online with the application for admission.
- An official transcript showing conferral of a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution. Students who completed their university education outside the US must have earned a comparable recognized bachelor's degree, as determined by Webster University. Students who expect to earn their bachelor's degree by July (the month prior to the start of the program) must submit an official transcript showing current academic progress. A final degree-conferred transcript must be submitted for full admission. Applicants who have completed graduate-level work should also request an official graduate transcript to be mailed to the Office of Admission.
- Students should have a minimum GPA of a 3.0 out of a 4.0 grading scale from their bachelor's degree. Students with below this GPA may be considered for admission if they show successful academic achievement in their junior and senior years. This is considered on a case-by-case basis.
- A current resume showing education, work, and volunteer experience.
- Two letters of recommendation which speak to the applicant's motivation, character, and ability to be successful in an intensive, 11-month graduate program that requires significant travel. One letter should come from a former or current professor/instructor. Recommendation letters should be written in narrative form and no more than one page in length. Applicants may submit recommendation letters with their application packet.
- A phone interview or essay may be required.

Services for Students/Career Planning and Development

The text in this section should read:

The Career Planning & Development Center (CPDC) provides comprehensive career development resources for students.

The CPDC website and social media platforms continue to evolve. Through these resources, students can find information about career planning, the labor market, resume best practices, interviewing skills and job search strategies. Through Gorlok Career Link, Webster University's online career management system, students can manage their job or internship search process. Additionally, within Gorlok Career Link, students can access Going Global databases which house city and country guides. These guides provide job search resources specific to most major metropolitan cities in the United States and currently have guides for 43 countries throughout the world.
